Manager wins a Jaguar

A Christmas present came early to Joan Gifford, Manager of Program Development, when she won a Jaguar. The Jaguar was a 1984 model, and it was a very special car for her.

She won the car in a contest that was held by the Conestoga College. The contest was held to celebrate the college's 25th anniversary. The contest was held in the form of a drawing, and Joan was the lucky winner.

Joan is a very busy woman, and she has many responsibilities. She is responsible for the development of the college's programs, and she is also responsible for the college's finances. She is a very dedicated woman, and she is always working hard to make the college a better place.

Feminists destroy language

Feminists in the last few years in this country have made it their goal to destroy words that are used to describe men. They have succeeded in making it impossible to use the word "man" to describe a person who is not a woman. They have also succeeded in making it impossible to use the word "woman" to describe a person who is not a man.

When we speak of a man, we are speaking of a person who is not a woman. When we speak of a woman, we are speaking of a person who is not a man. This is the only way to use the words "man" and "woman" without destroying them.

Finnish law reduces deaths

It's tragic that so many people have to die in accidents. In Finland, the death rate is one of the lowest in the world. This is because of the Finnish law that requires all drivers to wear seat belts.

Since 1972, Finnish law has required drivers to wear seat belts. This has resulted in a significant reduction in the number of deaths from car accidents. The law is a simple one, but it has saved many lives.

Finland is not the only country that has a law requiring drivers to wear seat belts. Many other countries have similar laws. The law is a simple one, but it has saved many lives.

Christmas photo session

By Herb Seymour

Christmas 1964 came as good news to relatives, as many of the gents such as Zellers, Kline and Sears experienced record sales. Gifts were so good that even Santa Claus had a smile on his face. But in the picture he looks worried. However this changed as a majority of people left their Christmas shopping until the last minutes.

Everyone twisted Christmas morning, even the cat was waiting the moment when he may get the mouse, soon above, hanging from the tree.
